BME COPPER

MONTHLY COPPER BRIEFING REPORT

The BME Monthly Copper Briefing Report is essential reading for any business professional needing to understand the current status and short-to-medium term prospects for copper.

Benefits

The report consists of analysis and views on copper market fundamentals, and the interplay between those fundamentals and the price. Forecasts cover a period of 12-24 months and data is presented in a quarterly format. Summaries of all major copper news announced during the month are captured for your quick review.

- ► Easy understanding of the copper supply chain from mine output to refined consumption with well laid out data, charts and insightful text.
- ► Comprehensive data range to assist your research project or your copper market trend monitoring. Data includes concentrates through to cathode, output, trade, consumption and stocks of each material in each location across the world.
- ► Pricing forecasts and development updates to help you make informed investment decisions.

Summarised features:

- Current status and direction of the copper market
- Refined copper output, use, market balance, stocks, price dynamics and price forecasts
- The shifting location of stocks, and what this means for the copper market
- Copper raw materials submarket dynamics and pricing (TC/RCs, scrap etc.)
- Developments in mining, mine output and capacity utilisation
- Developments in smelting & refining, output and capacity utilisation
- Macroeconomic developments, trends and forecasts for copper use
- China copper output, use, trade and stock development
- Our series of key copper market monthly indicators
- A full news review covering mining, smelting, refining, consumption & fabricating

As a complimentary service to our Copper Briefing Report subscribers we deliver:

- Global IP Watch: A monthly review and forecast of global and country developments produced by CHR.
- Ted Arnold's Weekly: A review of developments in all base and precious metals.
- Tailored charts in the BME Subscriber Area.
- Email access to the Editor to answer your queries.

The Copper Briefing Report is an annual subscription service.

You may also be interested in the BME Copper Market Quarterly Report which focuses on long term analysis of the copper market.

Visit www.bmecopper.com or contact: reports@intierra.com

Intierra
Resource Intelligence